G. W. Anderson

G. W. Anderson, 75, native of New Orleans and resident of Ocean Springs for the past 14 years, died at his East Beach home Tuesday night, Feb. 23, following an illness of some five months.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. E. A. de Miller of St. John's Episcopal church Thursday afternoon, with interment in Evergreen Cemetery. Pallbearers were Messrs. T. R. Watt, R. Oliver, Harry Daunois, Lewis J. Bright and Felix Puigue of New Orleans, and Messrs. A. C. Gottsche and J. C. Akely of Ocean Springs.

Mr. Anderson is survived by his wife, Mrs. Annette McCormell Anderson, three sons: Peter, Walter L. and Jas. McCormell; one grand son, Peter Michael, and two granddaughters, Patricia and Annette Marjory.

Before retiring from business in 1923, deceased was associated with the Anderson & Jackson Grain Operators in New Orleans, which enjoyed a large and prosperous import and export grain business for several years.

ANDERSON, G. W.

As his three sons finished their schooling and joined him here, the Shearwater Pottery was organized and Mr. Anderson acted as business manager of the pottery until his death. Because of the unusual and artistic nature of the products of Shearwater Pottery it has gained national reputation and pottery made at this plant is considered outstanding and enjoys a good demand. Hundreds of visitors make special trips to Ocean Springs monthly to visit the pottery and purchase its products.

The large cortege of friends attending the funeral and the numerous and beautiful floral offerings attested to the high esteem in which the deceased was held. He was a devoted husband and father, a man of high ideals, well read, and of even temperament. He enjoyed the respect and friendship of many who join this newspaper in extending sincere sympathies to the bereaved family.
